DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2, 9-10 and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Freeman et al. (US Patent No. 6,249,775).

As per claims 1, 9 and 17, Freeman et al disclose a method for sampling assets in an asset portfolio for optimal underwriting coverage when only a portion of the assets are to be underwritten, said method comprising the steps of: determining descriptive attributes of assets in the portfolio; encoding individual attributes; and clustering the assets for underwriting based upon occurrences of the descriptive attributes. Applicant is directed to column 6, line 12 to column 7, line 41.

As per claims 2, 10 and 18, Freeman et al disclose the steps of determining a number of samples to be submitted for further underwriting review. Applicant is directed to column 2, line 57 to column 8, line 10.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6-8, 14-16 and 22-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Freeman et al. (US Patent No. 6,249,775).

As per claims 6-8, 14-16 and 22-24, the teachings of Freeman et al. are discussed above. Clustering of financial instruments using a Monte Carlo process is well practiced in the art. Clustering the assets for underwriting comprising the step of using a supervised or an unsupervised clustering process to cluster the assets is not explicitly stated in Freeman et al. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the well known Monte Carlo simulation technique in the system of Freeman et al in order to obtain a more accurate manner of clustering the different types of assets in the portfolio therein.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

The basis of this rejection is set forth in a two prong test of:

- (1) whether the invention is within the technological arts; and
- (2) whether the invention produces a useful, concrete and tangible result.

For a claimed invention to be statutory, the claimed invention must be within the technological arts. Mere ideas in the abstract (i.e., abstract idea, law of nature, natural phenomena) that do not apply, involve, use or advance the technological arts fail to promote the "progress of science and the useful arts" (i.e., the physical sciences as opposed to social sciences, for example) are found to be non-statutory subject matter.

For a process claim to pass muster, the recited process must somehow apply, involve, use, or advance the technological arts. In the present case, claims 1-8 do not recite any structure or functionality to suggest that a computer performs the recited claims. Thus, claims 1-8 are rejected as being directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Allowable subject matter

Claims 11-13 and 19-21 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. The prior art taken alone or in combination failed to teach or suggest features recited in claims 3, 11 and 19. Claims 4-5, 12-13 and 20-21 are allowable over the art of record by virtue of being dependent to claims 3, 11 and 19.
